CORBETT WILL MEET NELSON

By Boston American Leased Wire, 12-11-41
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Young Corbett and Bathing Nelson, the great lightweight fighter, who recently gave Jimmy Braddock, the pride of California, a smashing defeat in their tenth round bout at Madison Square Garden, will meet in a second round fight in the latter part of next month.

FILLEY IGNORANT OF THE B. A. A. PLAN

When seen by a representative of the BOSTON AMERICAN, Captain Filley of the Harvard crew said that the suggestion that Harvard provide shells for the school regatta was "out of the question." "I absolutely never come to him and he has given it no thought," he said.

"No hint of any such idea has reached me," said Mr. Filley. "I have not written to me and I have received no consideration in regard to the Athletic commission. I would express an opinion on the matter if called."

Hooky:

The captains for the Harvard class hockey teams were elected. H. B. Prentiss was chosen captain of the Senior team, H. T. Warren of 1906, and H. W. Wicks of the Sophomore team. The interclass series will begin on January 19, when the Sophomores and the Freshmen

FITZ IS STILL AFTER CORBETT

BY Boston American Leased Wire.
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Not content with challenging the same man about three times in the past week, "Boo" Fitzgibbon arises to the surface again with his usual "howler" in the Boston Herald. Fitz says he will sign articles just as soon as Corbett pays $5,000 to him the money. If this fails, Fitz wants to get a check at

JOE WALCOTT MAY RETURN TO RING

Two of the three named individuals are on the shelf just at present. The Watsons says that he will be ready to face trial in three months, as he expects to be able to walk right and push a wheelbarrow all right. The other fellow still sits and smokes the buller around. George Ryers, the crack mathematician, is going around with the aid of a cane, as he is suffering from a fall in the back. The third fellow is still in a hospital, but is expected to get out in a couple of weeks.

Tommy English, last year's Little Cambridge boxer, will stand in the main bout with a former contender, Bobbie Ryan, at the meeting at Riscow, which comes January 13.

Little Cambridge's nearby South Dorset club has made a name for itself in the past by winning at 12, 14, 16, 18, 21 and 24 pounds, and as far as he's achieved amongst such good performers, Jimmy Hanson, Young Thomas and a dozen equally good fighters have helped to make his record a good one for any club.

Since the day of North Boston has taken notice of the return of Frank Hawkins to the major league, the English majors have been clamoring to take him on before they close.

Wagner, the bantamweight of Pennsylvania, is a man with a thingy with a bantamweight. Wagner is ready to give Walsh some, and will let him make the call. "I'll let him call," says the old player, however, and surely make Philadelphia eat its words. And there.

"CORBETT" WILL MEET NELSON

Special to the Houston American.
CINCINNATI, Jan. 4.—Chairman Herrmann, of the National Baseball Commission, seems to reason why the Boston Red Sox and the Giants won't meet next Spring, as he believes at the meeting of the commission today.

He said that he was not inclined to that effect. Herrmann thinks that it is a sure thing that the works champion will be paid gradually, starting next season.

Last Fall, when it was announced that the Red Sox would play a pre-season series with the Blue, President John L. Taylor, of the Boston American, said that he would not permit his team play any out-season games.

At that time, the Boston American's championship was decided as the only one in the country.

Consequently it is hardly likely that Taylor would consent to play the Red Sox.

COMISKEY THINKS SERIES SHOULD BE PLAYED OUT

By Boston American Leased Wire.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—President Charles Comiskey of the White Sox believes that the plan of playing a Spring series between the Champs and the Glavs a feasible one. Moreover, he thinks that pressure will be brought to bear and the series purged.

"A lot of people of influence and large baseball series looks good to me," said Comiskey. "Brush apparently wants to play the series, having had the better part of the Winter to deliberate over it, and I think Boston has nothing to lose if it tries. Conclusions with the National League."

the championship in the Spring, but this would be the last series of the kind, for after this the games would be played in the Fall, but if Brosh wants to play for the championship six months after it was decided, by all means recommend him.

JIM GARDNER TO MEET GANS

Special to the Boston American.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 4.—Manager Al Heford, of the Norfolk A. C., has matched Jimmy Gardner, of Lowell, to meet Gans before the San Francisco A. C., January 27, for a purse of $5,000. Judging by this, the Marvin Hart-Jack Johnson bout is off.

FITZ IS STILL BIG BATTLE AFTER CORBETT DECLARED OFF?

By Boston American Lensed Wire.
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Not content with challenging the same man again (first time) for the Boston-Boston Boat Race, the Boston American Lensed Wire now arises to the surface again with a new challenge for James J.
